2. Definitions

- GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation) means the new Data Protection Regulation of the European Union
- 'processing' means any operation or set of operations which is performed on personal data or on sets of personal data, whether or not by automated means, such as collection, recording, organisation, structuring, storage, adaptation or alteration, retrieval, consultation, use, disclosure by transmission, dissemination or otherwise making available, alignment or combination, restriction, erasure or destruction;
- 'processor' means a natural or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which processes personal data on behalf of the controller”
- 'personal data' means any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (data subject); an identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person;
- 'controller' means the natural or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which, alone or jointly with others, determines the purposes and means of the processing of personal data; where the purposes and means of such processing are determined by Union or Member State law, the controller or the specific criteria for its nomination may be provided for by Union or Member State law;
- 'consent of the data subject' means any freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous indication of the data subject's wishes by which he or she, by a statement or by a clear affirmative action, signifies agreement to the processing of personal data relating to him or her”
- 'personal data breach' means a breach of security leading to the accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure of, or access to, personal data transmitted, stored or otherwise processed;
- 'recipient' means a natural or legal person, public authority, agency or another body, to which personal data is disclosed, whether or not it is a third party. Public authorities which may receive personal data in the framework of a particular inquiry in accordance with Union or Member State law shall not be regarded as recipients; the processing of those data by those public authorities shall be in compliance with the applicable data protection rules according to the purposes of the processing
- 'third party' means a natural or legal person, public authority, agency or body other than the data subject, controller, processor and persons who, under the direct authority of the controller or processor, are authorised to process personal data.

3. Basic principles of data processing

The Controller declares that it processes personal data in accordance with the provisions of the privacy notice and complies with the provisions of the relevant laws, with particular attention to the following:

Personal data must be processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner in relation to the data subject.

Personal data shall be collected for specific, explicit and legitimate purposes only.

The purpose of the processing of personal data must be appropriate and relevant and limited to the extent necessary.

The personal data collected must be accurate and kept up to date. Any inaccurate personal data must be erased immediately.

Personal data must be stored in such a way that it should enable the identification of the data subject only for the necessary time. Personal data may only be stored for a longer period if such storage is required for archiving in the public interest, or for scientific and historical research purposes or for statistical purposes.

Personal data shall be processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorized or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures.

The principles of data protection should apply to any information concerning any identified or identifiable natural person.

4. The scope of data processed

During the visit to the website, the starting and ending time of the user's visit and, in certain cases depending on the settings of the user's computer, the type of the browser and the operating system used may be automatically recorded. From this data, the system generates statistical reports automatically. The operator does not link this data with any personal data. When logging in, the website sends a session ID, which is automatically deleted when you leave the page.

The data provided for using the website are processed with the user's voluntary consent.

You can find the list of data automatically saved by the website www.salontecheuropa.com and entered during registration here:

Cookies

- Identification of the page visited

Session cookies

- There are cookies that are essential for the operation of the Website and some of its functions, such as navigation on the Website. These are called session cookies. These cookies do not collect information about the User that could be used to identify the User (personal data); that could be used for marketing purposes; or that would remember which other websites or subpages of the Website you have visited. These are created when you enter the website and are stored on the server, and they are automatically deleted when you close the browser window or completely exit the browser.

5. Key data processing information

The Service Provider stores and processes data on its own computer, with the exception of the database used for sending its newsletters.

Sending an e-mail

If you send us an e-mail, we will get at least your e-mail address, but in certain cases (e.g. request for a quote) it is essential to enter your name and e-mail address. This qualifies as personal data processing.

We store the relevant personal data in the list of incoming letters in our computer's mail client for at least one year, or until such time as you request the permanent deletion of these letters containing personal data through any of our published contact details.

By sending us an e-mail, you accept our privacy policies.

Purpose of data processing: To provide additional services and keep contact.

The legal basis for data processing during registration: Your consent.

Persons affected by data processing: persons sending e-mails.

Duration of the processing: Until withdrawal of consent to data processing. You can withdraw your consent to data processing at any time by sending a letter to our contact e-mail address.

Data erasure: occurs when consent to data processing is withdrawn.

You can withdraw your consent to data processing at any time by sending a letter to our contact e-mail address.

Entities authorized to access the data: the data controller.

Data storage method: electronic.

Modification or deletion of personal data can be initiated by e-mail, phone or letter using the contact options provided above.

Providing personal data is absolutely necessary for identification and for keeping contact.

Scope of the processed data	Concrete purpose of data processing

You consent to data processing by accepting the pop-up cookie that appears when loading the website.

As a data subject, you can object to the processing of your personal data, in this regard you are entitled to the procedures according to the privacy policies detailed above and this notice, as well as the relevant laws described in the notice.

Cookies

Cookies are placed on the user's computer by the websites visited and they contain information such as page settings or login status.

Cookies are therefore small files created by visited websites. By saving browsing data, they improve user experience. With the help of cookies, the website remembers the website settings and offers locally relevant content.

The service provider's website sends a small file (cookie) to the computer of website visitors in order to determine the fact and time of the visit. The service provider informs the website visitor about this.

In order for this website to function properly, comfortably and in a personalised manner, we need to place so-called cookies i.e. small data files on your computer.

Upon opening the website, visitors of the website can see a cookie notice in the bottom of the page, which on the one hand provides information on the fact of the use of cookies, and on the other hand classifies the cookies used into four main categories, three of which (recommended, statistical and marketing) can be checked separately to accept or reject them. These settings can be changed at any time.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that the website stores on the computer or mobile device of the user visiting its pages. With the help of cookies, the website remembers your actions and personal settings for a certain period of time (e.g. user name, language, font size and other individual settings related to the appearance of the website, e.g. so that the pop-up window for accepting cookies is not loaded every time you visit our site). Thus you don't have to enter them again every time, or constantly click through annoying pop-ups when you return to our website or surf between our sub-pages.

What are cookies used for?

Cookies make it possible to identify the device used by the user for browsing, and thus to display relevant and convenient-to-use content tailored to the user's needs. Cookies make browsing easier, faster and more convenient for the user. At the same time, they can also be used to create certain - anonymous - statistics which provide valuable information (traffic statistics) to social media and internet advertising agencies regarding the user's site usage habits. With the help of the statistics obtained in this way, we can develop the structure and content of our website according to the needs of our visitors, all anonymously. Therefore, cookies do not store any personal data about our website visitors, they exclusively identify your computer/device and certain settings and browsing habits.

Neither the website nor its owner stores any personal data about you, they cannot identify you. The cookies that identify you are located on your computer which our website queries when you visit our website. IMPORTANT You can disable cookies in your browser after which neither our website nor other websites will be able to send cookies to your computer. (see details below)

How do we use cookies?

The purpose and characteristics of the various cookies are detailed below.

YSC/VISITOR_INFO1_LIVE - YouTube embedded videos: to collect anonymous statistics about embedded YouTube videos and evaluate the performance of embedded videos on our website. Two different external cookies are involved in data collection: one is persistent (VISITOR_INFO1_LIVE), the other is session-based (YSC). Both cookies are controlled by YouTube (i.e. external cookies).

eu_cookie_consent - Cookie use agreement: to record whether you have allowed us to use cookies on this website.

PREF/khcookie/NID – Googlemap embedded: these cookies are used by Google to remember the preferences and information provided by the user when viewing pages containing Google Maps. Three different cookies are involved in data collection, all three are externally controlled; two are persistent and the third is session-based.

You do not necessarily have to allow these cookies for the website to work but they can significantly improve your user experience. You can delete or disable cookies at your discretion, but in this case some elements of the website may not work properly.

The information stored by cookies is never used to identify you personally. Cookies are used exclusively for the purposes described here.

Maintenance of cookies

You have the option to manage and/or delete cookies as you wish. For information about this, please, visit AllAboutCookies.org. You can delete all cookies stored on your computer and disable their installation in most browsers.

Persons affected by data processing: the visitors of the website. The purpose of data processing is to provide additional services, identify and track visitors.

The legal basis for data processing: The user's consent is not required if the use of cookies by the service provider is absolutely necessary.

Scope of the data processed: unique identification number, time, settings.

The user has the option to delete cookies from the browser at any time in the Settings menu.

Controllers authorized to access the data: The Controller is not deemed to process personal data by using cookies.

Data storage method: electronic.

Social media sites

Social media sites are media tools where messages are distributed through the users of social media. Social media uses the internet and online publishing opportunities to turn users from content recipients into content editors.

Social media is the platform of online applications where the content created by users can be found, for example Facebook, Google+, Twitter, Pinterest etc.

Social media may take the following forms: public talks, performances, presentations, information on products or services.

The information published in the social media may take the following forms: forums, blog entries, images, video and audio material, newsfeed, e-mails etc.

Based on the above, in addition to the user's personal data, the set of processed data may also include their public profile picture.

Data subjects: all registered users.

The purpose of data collection is to promote the website or a related website. The legal ground for data processing is the data subject's consent.

Duration of data processing: according to the regulations that can be viewed on the relevant social media site.

Deadline for erasing data: according to the regulations that can be viewed on the relevant social media site. Persons/entities authorized to access the data: according to the regulations that can be viewed on the relevant social media site.

Rights related to data processing: according to the regulations that can be viewed on the relevant social media site. Data storage method: electronic.

It is important to note that when a user uploads or submits any personal data, they give the operator of the social media site a worldwide license to store and use the relevant content. Therefore, it is very important to make sure that the user has full authorization to disclose the information submitted.

Google Analytics

Our website uses Google Analytics.

Google Analytics compiles a report about the habits of website users for its customers based on internal cookies.

Google uses the information to evaluate the way users use the website on behalf of the website operator. As an additional service, it generates reports related to website activity for the website operator so that it can provide additional services.

The data is stored on Google's servers in an encrypted format in order to prevent any misuse of the data or make it difficult.

Google Analytics can be blocked as follows: Quote from the relevant page:

Users who do not want Google Analytics JavaScript to generate a report on their data can install the Google Analytics Opt-out Browser Add-on. This add-on prevents Google Analytics JavaScript (ga.js, analytics.js, and dc.js) from sending information to Google Analytics. The browser add-on can be used in most modern browsers. The Google Analytics Opt-out Browser Add-on does not prevent data from being sent to the website itself and other internet analytics services.

6. Data security measures

The Controller takes utmost care in processing and storing personal data.

The Controller operates the website www.salontecheurope.com on the server of the hosting service provider identified in Section 1.

Based on the contract between the Controller and the Hosting Service Provider, the Hosting Service Provider is responsible for the storage and security of the data stored on the server, and shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of its own Privacy Policy (see reference in Section 1, Hosting Service Provider).

Regardless of the protocol (e-mail, web, ftp, etc.), electronic messages transmitted over the Internet are vulnerable to network threats that can lead to dishonest activities or the disclosure or modification of information. To protect against such threats, the Controller takes all the necessary precautions. However, the Internet is not 100% secure, as it is known to users. The Controller shall not be liable for any damage caused by indefensible attacks that take place despite taking reasonably expected precautions.

7. Purpose of the processing

The purpose of data processing is to ensure standing contact between registered users using the website's services and the data controller, and to conduct opinion polls.

The date of the visit and the type of the browser and operating system are recorded solely for statistical purposes.

The data controller shall not use your personal data for any purpose other than those expressly specified. The data so provided are managed with the user's voluntary consent.

The Controller treats all user-related data and facts confidentially and uses them solely for the purpose of developing its services, selling advertising spaces as well as for its own surveys and statistics. Any statistics made of the data will be published in such form which does not enable identification of any individual users.

8. Persons/entities with access to the data, data processors

The personal data provided by the user can be accessed by the Controller and the operator of the website.

The Controller transfers personal data to third parties only with the prior and informed consent of the User. It does not apply to data disclosures that may be required by the relevant laws.

The Controller is entitled and obliged to disclose all available and lawfully stored personal data to the relevant authorities the disclosure of which is required by a law or by a final authority order.

The Controller shall not be liable for the consequences of such data transfer.

9. Responsibility of the data processor

The Controller does not check the personal data submitted to it. The person providing the personal data shall be solely responsible for the correctness of the same. By providing their e-mail address, the User warrants that only he or she will use the service from the given e-mail address. With regard to this warranty, the User registering a specific e-mail address shall be solely liable for all log-ins from such e-mail address. If the User does not provide their own personal data, they are obliged to obtain the consent of the data subject.

10. Rights relating to data processing

Right to request information

You may request information through the provided contact details on what legal basis, for what data processing purpose, from what source and for how long your data is being processed by us. Upon your request, we will send the relevant information to the e-mail address you provided without delay, but within 30 days at most.

Right to rectification

You may request us to modify any of your data via the contact details provided. Upon your request, we will act on this immediately, but within 30 days at the most, and we will send the relevant information to the e-mail address you provided.

Right to Erasure

You may request through the provided contact details that your data be erased. Upon your request, we will do this immediately but within 30 days at most, and send the relevant information to the e-mail address you provided.

Right to blocking

You may request through the provided contact details that your data be blocked. The blocking shall last as long as the reason you provided for blocking your data exists. Upon your request, we will do this immediately but within 30 days at most, and send the relevant information to the e-mail address you provided.

Right to object

You may object to the data processing through the provided contact details. We will examine your objection within 15 days after its submission, decide whether the objection is founded, and notify you of our decision by e-mail.

Legal remedies with regard to data processing

In the case of any illegal data processing that you may have experienced, please notify us so that we can restore the lawful status within a short period of time. We will do everything we can to resolve the reported issue according to your interest.

If, in your opinion, the lawful status cannot be restored, you can notify the authority of this at the following contact details:
